The MLB action comes thick and fast throughout the regular season with each team playing 162 games, totalling 2,430 total regular-season games.

A bet on the Money Line is simply a bet on which team will win the match. It is most similar to the NHL Puck Line, where the favorite will be given typically a ally a -1.

5 runs, depending on how favored one team is over the other.

Of course there are cases where the line can fall out of these parameters, as each game and the expected number of runs will be different depending on team form, game conditions and pitcher matchups.

This added flexibility allows you to bet on one team if you like them, but are unsure on the spread, or unsure if the opposition will score enough points to take the over.

While you won't get a full list of MLB markets available on the live betting tab, you'll have all of the main markets such as Money Line, Spreads and Totals alongside a select number of props such as Race to 5 Runs, or individual inning s winners.

MLB ATS Betting
5 runs ATS, depending on how big a favorite they are, and the underdog will start with +1.
